Integrating Experiential Games into Workshops & Meetings
With Gillian Martin Meyers

Does your workshop treat a complex subject? Your group has some challenging dynamics? Your workshops participants want to learn to work better together to achieve their goal? Maybe your collaborative process has all these things and more! Some may think that games are only for children, but we professional facilitators know that, whatever you end up calling them, experiential games can undertake a number of important and useful functions in your workshop or meeting.

Gillian Martin Meyers is a Certified Professional Facilitator (CPF) and Managing Director/Head of Learning for Bright Green Learning Academy (www.academy.brightgreenlearning.com) and co-author of the recent Climate Change Playbook (Chelsea Green 2016). We are a Swiss-based social enterprise that works globally with the sustainability and development community to strengthen its performance and impact through learning
